Letter from the President

Greetings! Spring has sprung bringing with it the fresh breeze of new music and new performances!

The awakening of the new season began with the annual Texas Flute Society Members' Recital on April 4, 2015 at Messiah Lutheran Church in Plano. Once again I was reminded of how lucky I am to be in an area where I am surrounded by such incredible flutists! Middle School student Suraj Khosla forecasted the fine future of flute playing with his fantastic performance of the second movement from Handel's Sonata No. 1. Donald Bohanon-Gauthier brought to life a new world of color and nuance with his performance of Ibert's Pièce, while Melinda Wade-English honored both her mother and flutists everywhere with her engaging performance of Anderson's Fantasy on Bellini's "Norma." Timothy Hagen's virtuosic performance of Karg-Elert's Sonata Appassionata showed the technical capabilities of the flute in all their glory. Tim also explored the elastic boundaries of flute technique and the future of composition with his powerhouse original work, Blowout for solo flute. High school junior, Casey Key, proved her complete readiness for State Solo Contest with her beautifully executed interpretation of Debussy's Syrinx. The recital concluded with a special performance by the TFS board of Vaughan Williams' Kingsfold arranged by Ronda Winter-Eldridge. Although we know each other well, this was the first time we have ever performed together. What a treat! I am already looking forward to next year's members' recital!

I am also looking forward to the 38th Annual Texas Flute Festival which is only weeks away! Our guest artists, Bonita Boyd, Flutronix, and Kristyn Son have planned incredible recital, masterclass, and workshop programs. The recorded round results of both the Myrna Brown and Donna Marie Haire competitions indicate that this year's semi-final and final rounds will be a showdown of incredible flute playing and musicianship. Several flute choirs from near and far are poised to fill the halls with soaring sounds, and great conductors have been lined up to lead this year's festival flute choirs. Several exhibitors will be on hand to fulfill all of our new flute (and piccolo!), music, and accessory needs. And our new venue, Texas Woman's University, assures us that everything is all set! It is going to be an amazing event, so mark your calendars now for May 14-16, 2015, and continue reading this newsletter for more festival details!

Guest Artists

We are so fortunate to live in an area that has such an active arts scene. Teeming with talented flutists, the Metroplex has an abundance of recitals, masterclasses, and workshops available. The Flute Festival not only brings together flutists in our area, but it also opens our eyes to the rest of the flute world. This year's Guest Artists depict a wide array of backgrounds, styles, and ideas. Everyone, regardless of age and ability, will benefit from attending events featuring the Guest Artists.

Bonita Boyd is professor of flute at the Eastman School of Music and an active concert soloist throughout the world. She began her professional career at age twenty-one with appointments as principal flutist of the Rochester Philharmonic and the Chautauqua Symphony, making her the youngest principal flutist in a major U.S. orchestra at that time. She has served as performer and/or artist-teacher at various festivals including Marlboro, Bowdoin, Grand Teton, Johannesen, Eastern, Masterworks, Filarmonica de las Americas, and the Hamamatsu Seminar. She is currently an artist-faculty member of the Aspen Music Festival and co-principal flutist of the Aspen Festival Orchestra. She has been president of the National Flute Association, a 5,000-member worldwide organization of flutists. Ms. Boyd's premieres and recordings of new works include those of Adler, Benson, Rozsa, Rands, Augusta Read Thomas, Sessler, Sierra, and most recently, the National Flute Association's first performance of Melinda Wagner's Pulitzer Prize-winning Flute Concerto. Her Flute Music of Les Six won a Stereo Review Record of the Year award, and her Paganini Caprice CD was on the final Ballot for a Grammy. Recent CDs include the premiere recording of Bernstein's Halil (chamber version) and a new CD, Quicksilver, with guitarist Nicholas Goluses. Bonita has been awarded the Lifetime Achievement Award by the National Flute Association, as well as the Eisenhart Award for Excellence in Teaching by the Eastman School.

Events featuring Bonita Boyd include:

College and Adult Masterclass:

~ Bonita Boyd will perform Chopin's Variations on a Theme by Rossini with a flute choir of selected performers.

Flutronix is Nathalie Joachim and Allison Loggins-Hull, two blazing young flutists who are “redefining the flute and modernizing its sound by hauling it squarely into the world of popular music.”(MTV Iggy) Their original urban art pop is best described as “a unique blend of classical music, hip-hop, electronic programming and soulful vocals reminiscent of neo-R&B stars like Erykah Badu.” (The Wall Street Journal) Their work as performers, producers and composers has moved them to collaborate with artists and ensembles from different realms and disciplines, including electronic music sensation Dan Deacon, legendary hip-hop producer Ski Beatz, the International Contemporary Ensemble and more.

Flutronix has performed at leading music venues and events including the Virginia Arts Festival, WNYC's Greenspace, the Brooklyn Museum and 92Y Tribeca, and produces Flutronix and Friends, a collaborative new music series. Flutronix has been featured in an internationally broadcast ESPN super bowl commercial, as well as television segments on Telemundo and The Daily Buzz. The duo is regularly sought after as clinicians and educators and has presented and lectured for The Juilliard School, New England Conservatory, the University of Michigan, the New York Flute Club, the Atlanta Flute Club and other institutions across the country. Their latest album, "2.0" has been recently released on the duo's label as well as by Village Again Records in Japan. Flutronix is proud to be Burkart flute artists.

Events featuring Flutronix include:

Workshop: You Are Your Own Business:

Friday, May 15, 2015, 5:00-6:00 PM, Science Lecture Hall ~ The New York City based urban art pop flute duo Flutronix has taken the new music scene by storm with their original music and business ventures in publishing and recorded music. In an effort to share their knowledge and experience with aspiring professional musicians, Flutronix has developed a unique presentation on establishing goals, developing a business plan, building a brand, programming, finances, and networking.

Meet the Composer

With Samuel Beebe

Friday, May 15, 2015, 7:00 PM

Margo Jones Performance Hall

For the third year, the Texas Flute Society has commissioned a piece to be performed by all competitors at both rounds of the Myrna Brown Competition. This year's piece was composed by Samuel Beebe. A young composer from Boston now residing in Philadelphia, Samuel Beebe is a composer of concert, theatre, opera, and film music. His works are constantly inspired by the reality surrounding him. The inspiration for this year's Myrna Brown commission, In Memory of the 288, came from a photograph by Ellie Seif he saw hanging in a café shortly after he moved to Philadelphia. The photograph depicts a young child standing before a memorial erected to commemorate the 288 Philadelphians killed by gun violence in 2012. Struck by this image, Beebe felt compelled to write an aria, "a lone voice lamenting the tragedy of interpersonal violence, stupefied by the loss of young lives. It seems every day we hear of another life lost in some act of violence. With this music I express my compassion for the families and loved ones of those fallen in this city, but also protest violence as a solution to any conflict."

Flute Choir Schedules

The flute choir epitomizes why we were drawn to music in the first place – the opportunity to meet new people and perform with others all while making beautiful sounds and playing fun music. There are two ways the flute choir is showcased at the Festival. Selected flute choirs will be performing in the lobbies outside of Margo Jones Performance Hall and the Science Lecture Hall throughout the day. Enjoy their sounds as you pass by, or sit down and enjoy the full concert!
